

The Tango Savings Optimization Program

Cost savings and happier employees

A turnkey solution that delivers substantial cost savings and happier employees

Executive Summary:

Like many companies, the two clients in this case study were already offering High Deductible Health Plans. They had three goals: reduce healthcare costs, avoid the upcoming ACA Cadillac tax, and keep employees happy. When launched by in-house HR staff, adoption of the High Deductible Health Plans was slower than expected.

Tango's turnkey outsourced Savings Optimization Program delivered dramatic results:

- At our Fortune 150 client, adoption increased from 16% to 52%, yielding over $100 Million in savings.
- At our smaller client, adoption increased from 5% to 30%, yielding over $1 Million in savings.

“For the first time in my 30+ years, we were able to reduce our year-over-year healthcare spend. With Tango, we’ve done it two years in a row.”

—Vice President, Fortune 150 Company with over 65,000 employees

The Challenge: Elusive Savings

Our clients, like many smart companies, knew that offering High Deductible Health Plans could deliver substantial savings. Yet they didn't want to harm their employees, pressure them or offer sub-standard health plans. They wanted employees happy, choosing and using the health care plan options that best fit their own family and lifestyle. Our clients wanted to encourage employees to be smarter healthcare consumers and to avoid negative consequences with their own coverage choices.

Both clients wanted to encourage wider adoption of high deductible health plans. Yet the higher deductible can be intimidating to an employee considering the switch. The employee rarely has the full amount of the deductible set aside in case of a major medical expense. This is why some employees make the financially flawed decision to pay a higher per-paycheck amount to avoid exposure to a higher deductible. Of course, employers can buffer this with HSA contributions, but the benefits are not obvious to employees.

Nobody wants to force a change — but they wanted a way to help employees make their best choices. Neither company had the extra resources to educate, custom tailor the offering and to support every individual employee's decision making process. In addition, our clients were facing economic impact from the "Cadillac Tax" in 2018 (currently 2020), when the tax mandated by the ACA is scheduled to take effect.

How does it work?

Tango works side-by-side with your team to provide a quality experience for every employee. Tango has the knowledge and experience to manage benefits selection for optimal results. Tango's tools provide employees with customized data to make smart decisions. We handle all aspects of benefits optimization so you don't have to.

Outreach

We offer client-branded communications throughout the year, customized with your plan offerings.

On-demand online training

We offer client-branded professionally produced webinars and videos to educate employees on how to use High Deductible Health Plans together with Health Savings Accounts (HSAs) prior to open enrollment.

On site enrollment meeting facilitation

Our trained experts are your team. We determine, with you, the correct balance of onsite and remote presence. Our most successful clients allowed us to provide a portion of each open enrollment meeting at their offices.

Predictive modeling simulation tool

We offer access to a decision facilitation tool prepopulated with each individual's past year claims data. The tool does NOT always recommend the High Deductible Health Plan option, it recommends what is right for the employee.

Branded high-volume call-center

Our trained experts are available via phone and email for one-on-one choice validation and support.

Important note: nearly every employee who voluntarily selected the HDHP plan, first placed a call to speak with our experts.

Our Clients

Tango's Savings Optimization Program is a fully scalable turnkey solution. It works similarly for the very largest companies and for medium sized ones. In this case study we are featuring two very different clients to illustrate how our solution can work for any medium-to-large company.

Company #1

Fortune 150 Company

Our client is a major U.S. defense contractor and industrial corporation with over $20 Billion in revenues and more than 60,000 employees. Our client has a corporate policy that prohibits us from sharing their name in this format. However, they are happy to provide live references to peer companies interested in Tango's services.

"We needed more resources and a better way to educate our diverse workforce to understand the benefits of High Deductible Health Plans. Tango's program helped us make exponential improvements in high-deductible health plan adoption. I wish everything was this simple and effective.

Our employees were able to see the value and benefits of the plans they chose. Tango provided onsite training, live customer service support, a choose-your-plan tool —pre-populated with individual employee data— and all the collateral we needed."

—VP of Fortune 150 Company

The Details: During the 2014 open enrollment period Tango's Savings Optimization Program offered a wider range of healthcare options and the ability to see which plan best fit their own family and lifestyle. Tango created client branded customized education materials. These materials included print collateral, online resources and presentations. Tango also provided in-office communications using plasma TV displays at offices around the country. In addition to the remote presentations, the Tango implementation team made 30 visits to 25 locations to provide on-site learning. Finally, Tango assigned a live dedicated account service team of experts to be available to address employees' questions and concerns by phone or email.

Based on over 29,000 scenarios in which the company's employees entered their own expected health spending data into the planning tool, high deductible plans were recommended only 77% of the time. Tango's tools are designed to give the employee the best alternative for them.

The results showed that over 60% of the company's eligible employees made an active enrollment decision, leading to a 115% year-over-year jump in CDHP selection

- In 2014, 16% of employees chose a high deductible health plan, in 2015 it rose to 30%, and in 2016 it reached 52%
- Our client saved $35 million in reduced benefits expenses in 2015 and is projecting an additional $71 million savings in 2016.
- Employees will save money too! Their projected savings for 2015 is $15 million.
- The company's exposure to the Cadillac Tax dropped by $4.8 million.

Company #2

Bank of Oklahoma Financial

Our client, BOK Financial, is a $28 Billion regional financial services company with 4,800 employees.

"During the 2014 benefits open enrollment period, we needed a better way to interact with employees and educate them on the value and benefits of the plan. With Tango, we were able to reach our diverse workforce and deliver a powerful, easy to use tool. They helped us make an exponential improvement over the previous year."

—Debbie Saunders, BOK Total Rewards SVP

The Details: During the 2014 open enrollment period Tango's Benefits Optimization Program supported a wider range of healthcare options and the ability to see which plan best fit their own family and lifestyle.

- Tango helped 30% of employees, up from 5% the previous year, voluntarily choose high-deductible health plans.
- BOK Financial employees began engaging with their Health Savings Accounts. They saw an increase in usage from 250 in the previous year to 1,500.
- BOK Financial saw considerable cost savings impact on earnings. Insurance premiums were reduced by $880,000.
- BOK Financial also estimates that they saved $192,000 in taxes.
